

EH "How to"

SEVEN SINS

Episode 3: How to water relaunch your Ripper.

Swim toward the kite to make it roll on it's back and immediately grab one of the rear leaders as high as you can. For a 2007 bar or newer, you grab the red handles above the floaters. Don't worry about the bar at this stage, just leave it alone.

EH "How to"

SEVEN SINS

Episode 3: How to water relaunch your Ripper.

Now pull on the line and maintain pressure. The tip should now catch some wind and start dragging the kite towards the edge of the wind window.

EH "How to"

SEVEN SINS

Episode 3: How to water relaunch your Ripper.

Maintain the pressure on the line and you'll see the kite lift and fill. The kite is ready to come off the water when the entire canopy catches the wind.

EH "How to"

SEVEN SINS

Episode 3: How to water relaunch your Ripper.

The kite is now at the edge of the window and it is very important that you do not release the pressure on the rear line. The kite is ready to come off the water, maintain the pressure on the line and keep on pulling on the rear line until you see the lower tip come off the water.

EH "How to"

SEVEN SINS

Episode 3: How to water relaunch your Ripper.

The tip is off the water. Make sure the kite is depowered as it comes off the water and steer the kite to zenith.

EH "How to"

SEVEN SINS

Episode 3: How to water relaunch your Ripper.

The tip is off the water. Make sure the kite is depowered as it comes off the water and steer the kite to zenith.